Teamsters Will Oppose Alpern

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Teamsters Union says it will oppose Justice Anne X. Alpern, a Democrat, in her bid for election to a 21-year term on the state Supreme Court.

John B. Backhus, president of Joint Council 53, said Tuesday, teamsters objected to Miss Alpern's support of the sale of milk in gallon bottles at lower prices. This, he said, would encourage customers to buy milk at stores and carry it home, discouraging home delivery.

Kiwanians Elect New President

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Delegates to the 44th annual convention of the Pennsylvania District of Kiwanis elected Joseph D. Ceadler, Riegelsville, president, Wednesday.

Ceadler, who defeated Dr. Earl S. Tomlinson, Springfield, in the balloting, succeeds J. Riley Fulmer Jr.

Other elected as the convention close included: Al Thornquist, Pleasant Hills, treasurer; Daniel Auchbach, Johnstown; Guy R. Day, Washington; and Ira F. Bradford, Coaropolis, board of trustees.

Lord Home Sees Peace Progress

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Foreign Secretary Lord Home said Wednesday the Western powers seem to have gotten across to the Soviet Union a warning that they will fight to maintain their access to Berlin, though this could lead to nuclear war.

Speaking of discussions with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, Lord Home told the annual conference of the British Conservative party at this seaside resort: "I think that we succeeded in convincing Gromyko that situation must not be allowed to arise."

X-15 Rockets 40 Miles Into Space

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The X-15 rocketed 40 miles into space Wednesday, then slammed back into the atmosphere in a "belly-buster" plunge that cracked the tiny plane's windshield.

Air Force Maj. Bob White landed safely after setting a record for winged flight. He soared at bullet-fast speed to 215,000 feet — more than eight miles higher than the previous X-15 record of 169,600 feet.

East Germans 'Jumped Gun'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist East Germany "jumped the gun" in protesting against plans to send West German traffic policemen into West Berlin, the United States said Wednesday, because no such move is being made — or is necessary.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said the Communists "are seeking to exploit propagandistically a development that has not occurred."

General Assembly Scores S. Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. General Assembly in an unprecedented action censured South Africa Wednesday for a policy speech delivered by Foreign Minister Eric Louw.

By a vote of 67 to 1 with 20 abstentions, the assembly held the speech "offensive, fictitious and erroneous."

New Berlin Border Incidents Top Busy Day For Diplomats

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists stopped all civilian traffic at a Berlin border checkpoint for an hour Wednesday night until a West German loudspeaker truck stopped its broadcast.

Cars lined up on both sides of the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint. U. S. military police stood with fixed bayonets on the Western side of the border while American officers tried in vain to persuade Communist guards to let traffic through.

The van, operated by West Berlin authorities to broadcast the Western viewpoint to Communist border guards, defied their pressure for an hour, then shut off its loudspeaker and drove away. The Reds immediately relented and opened the gate.

Friedrichstrasse is the only passageway for Allied military personnel and foreign civilians through the Communist wall across Berlin. Communist guards there are usually polite and allow holders of non-German passports to clear quickly. Allied military vehicles are almost never stopped.

The border incident topped a day in which West German President Heinrich Lübke gravely warned West Germans to steel themselves to shoot at East Germans if necessary in defense of their freedom.

American soldiers staged an alert exercise. Mayor Willy Brandt called the presence of the Allies, free access to Berlin, and ties with the West absolutely essential for West Berlin's survival. He told a group of local businessmen West Berlin was able to develop in recent years only because "we lived under the protective umbrella of the Allies."

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's personal envoy to the city, in a recorded radio interview praised West Berlin police-men manning the tense barricades and said he was confident they can "prevent the situation developing into something explosive."

Lübke, whose office is largely ceremonial, made his speech to officers at an advanced leadership academy for the armed forces at Hamburg as a U. S. Army helicopter lifted four more East German refugees from the isolated West Berlin community of Steinstücken.

The refugees had slipped through the barbed wire fence that surrounds the enclave of 200 persons cut off from West Berlin. East German police control the few hundred yards of road linking it with West Berlin.

Four other refugees from the village were flown out in the same way Tuesday.

At least 19 refugees have been brought out of Steinstücken by U. S. Army helicopters despite Communist charges that the flights violate East German sovereignty and air space.

Union Will Admit Some Teamsters

NEW YORK (AP) — AFL-CIO leaders voted Wednesday to welcome into the federation on a piecemeal basis units of the expelled Teamsters Union who may rebel against Teamsters President James R. Hoffa.

The plan fell short of proposals to establish a separate AFL-CIO union of teamsters to engage in an all-out battle with Hoffa. But it represented the strongest move yet made by the AFL-CIO to make deep inroads in Hoffa's union membership.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said he already has applications from about 100 of the nearly 900 Teamsters locals wanting to quit Hoffa's organization. Meany declined to speculate whether the open bid for a Teamsters' rebellion will result in a bloody labor war.

"We don't go in for head busting," Meany told reporters. "You'll have to ask Mr. Hoffa about that."

UAW Agreement Reached Today World In 'A Period Of Maximum Hazard'

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers union agreed Wednesday night on a new three-year contract after a nine-day nationwide strike which idled 120,000 production workers.

The contract will be presented to the 180-member Ford National Council for approval at a meeting Thursday afternoon.

Still to be resolved are local issues at 25 bargaining units whose membership totals more than 61,000. Indications were that these would quickly fall in line. However, at General Motors Corp. last month, local strikes interrupted production for more than two weeks following agreement on a national contract.

A recess came at 7:45 p.m. (EST), some 45 minutes after UAW President Walter P. Reuther was due at an international executive board meeting at the union's headquarters across town from the hotel where Ford negotiations have been proceeding.

Reuther remained closeted with aides at the hotel.

The executive board meeting was expected to try to save the UAW's profit-sharing contract with American Motors Corp.

Reuther summoned the board following a rejection of the historic AMC pact by key Local 72 at Kenosha, Wis.

The executive board also was expected to review progress in contract negotiations at Ford Motor Co. Ford has been shut down for nine days by a strike of its 120,000 hourly production employees.

The union estimates the cost of the strike to its defense fund at $3.5 million a week. Strikers became eligible for benefits Tuesday.

A majority of American Motors workers have voted in favor of the profit-sharing contract. However, Local 72, representing 12,000 hourly production workers, voted 1,507 to 1,444 against ratification.

The executive board has three choices of action: It can decide that since a majority accepted the AMC contract, it is valid; decide that the contract was rejected; or call for a new vote.

With the board making a decision on the AMC contract, top-level Ford and UAW negotiators were expected to work well into the night.

Negotiators seek a solution to the last two national noneconomic issues holding up settlement of the strike, now nine days old.

Reuther said an all-night bargaining session was likely in the union's drive to get a new contract in time to present it to a scheduled meeting of its Ford Council Thursday afternoon. The council can recommend acceptance or rejection of a new agreement.

Issues still unsettled at Ford are production standards and a union demand for more company-aid union representatives to handle plant grievances.

At Wednesday night's board meeting, UAW regional directors from around the country were to report on the progress of local Ford negotiations. The wage package already has been settled. Local issues at several key plants could delay a full settlement.

Of the 85 bargaining units at Ford, 47 have settled, and 26 still have unresolved problems. Twelve had no local demands.

10,000 More Troops To Go To Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten thousand more men—regular Army and newly mobilized Air National Guard units—were ordered to Europe Wednesday to boost U. S. military strength in that crisis-clutched area.

The Defense Department announced that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, with President Kennedy's approval, had taken the new action to strengthen combat forces on guard against possible aggression by the Communists.

The deployment "will start immediately," the Pentagon said. Then it added more specifically that the 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment would move to Europe "at an early date" and that 11 fighter squadrons and other elements of the Air National Guard, which already have been ordered to federal service effective next Saturday, would begin heading for Europe Nov. 1.

The commission, permanent research agency of the general assembly, agreed to have its staff delve into the whole realm of civil defense through a study of state and local powers in event of an atomic disaster.

The pacifists—there were 11, plus two small children—stood a quiet vigil at the foot of the 60 steps leading to the main entrance of the capitol to dramatize their feeling that the civil defense effort was misdirected.

Specifically, their demonstration was directed at the current emphasis on construction of fallout shelters.

The Associated Press quoted Mrs. Scott as saying: "It (shelters) give hope where there is no hope."

This is not Mrs. Scott's first demonstration against Civil Defense. During the last nationwide alert, she was among a group which refused to take cover in Easton's Center Square.

They carried placards and several were taken into custody, then released.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said Wednesday the world is in "a period of maximum hazard" and no easy solution to the Berlin crisis is in sight.

Kennedy announced, too, that he is dispatching a trusted military adviser, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, to Saigon to discuss ways in which the United States "can perhaps better assist the government of Viet Nam" in meeting the threat to its independence.

And, in a domestic but related field, the President told a news conference that hopes for a $3-billion surplus in the Treasury this year—and for a tax cut—have been wiped out because of steps to strengthen the national defense.

He said he hopes next year's budget can be balanced and that a tax boost will be avoided. But he said there could be further unexpected defense spending.

Kennedy himself led off the conference—his first since Aug. 30—with his announcement that he is sending Taylor to Viet Nam this week.

Then the first question bored in on the Berlin situation and whether talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko have raised hopes for a solution.

The answer: "No."

Later, the President put it another way:

"We are still not in sight of land."

Yet he did say his own conference with Gromyko last Friday and those earlier between Gromyko and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had defined differences more clearly. Furthermore, he said, talks—but not negotiations—are to continue at the diplomatic level.

Kennedy was both firm and conciliatory. He said "we have indicated that we will meet our commitments with whatever resources are necessary to meet them."

"And we also add," he added, "that we hope it will be possible that accord can be reached which will protect the interests and freedom of the people involved, without having to go to these extreme weapons."

This was in answer to a request for reaction to what a reporter termed charges that the nation has not maintained adequate strength and has failed to convince Soviet leaders of its determination to meet force with force in Berlin or elsewhere.

Kennedy said the American people are rightfully concerned about the possibility of a war. He said, as he has before, that "we happen to live in the most dangerous time in the history of the human race."

"Our ambition," he said, "is to protect our vital interests without a war which destroys and doesn't really represent a victory for policy."

The news conference, in the auditorium of the State Department, was held before the eyes of millions of Americans peering by television over the shoulders of 366 newsmen. It was Kennedy's 16th presidential news conference and his fourth on live TV and radio.

Body Of Pen Argyl Man Is Recovered

WIND GAP—The body of a 40-year-old Pen Argyl man was recovered early yesterday from the swimming pool at Cortez Grove, a mile west of here in Bushkill Township.

Dr. John Turzot of Pen Argyl, Northampton County deputy coroner, identified him as John E. Parry of 215 Heller Ave., and said the death would be listed as suicide.

Discovery of the body about 12:30 a.m. ended a search of nearby woods by about 15 volunteers. The body was found by Stewart Bush, a local skin diver.

The search for Parry began about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday. Alexander Cortez, owner of the pool and picnic grove, told police Parry parked his car at the grove about 2 p.m.

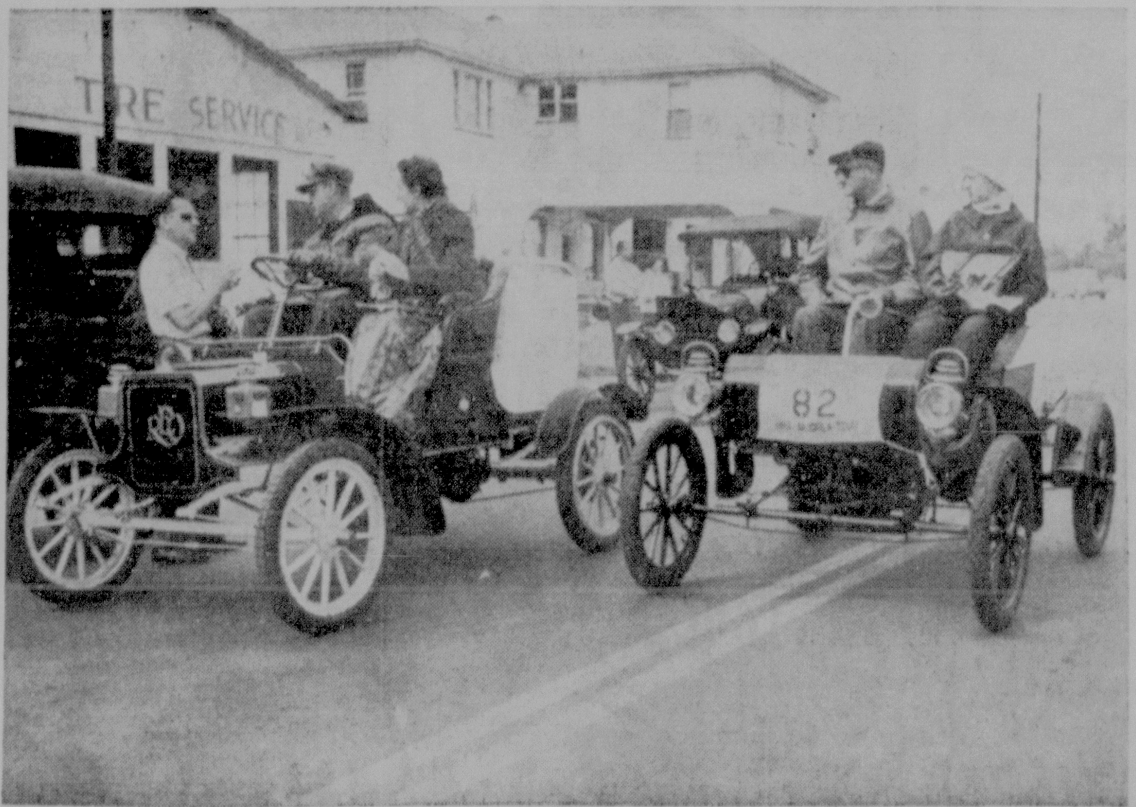

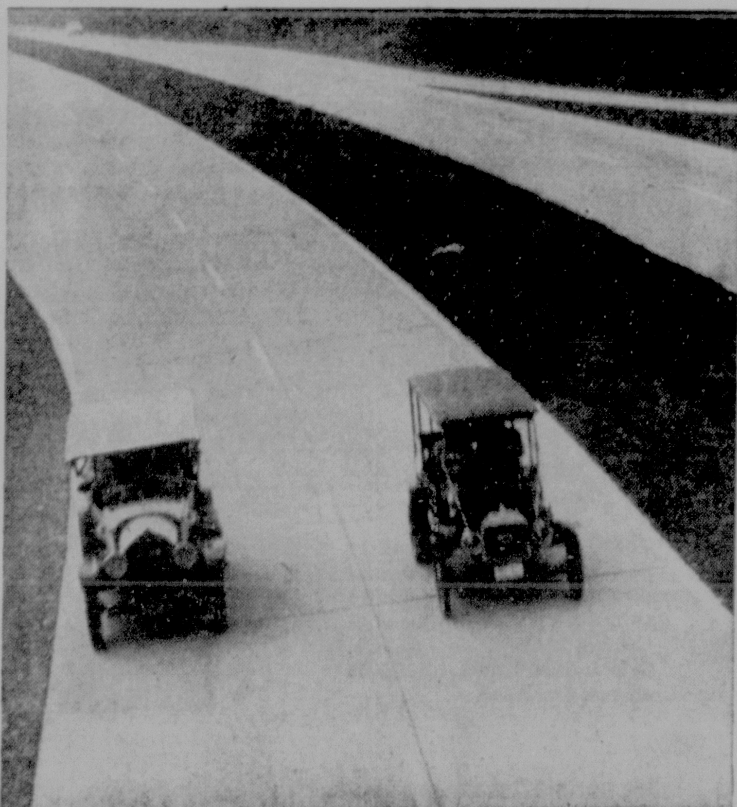

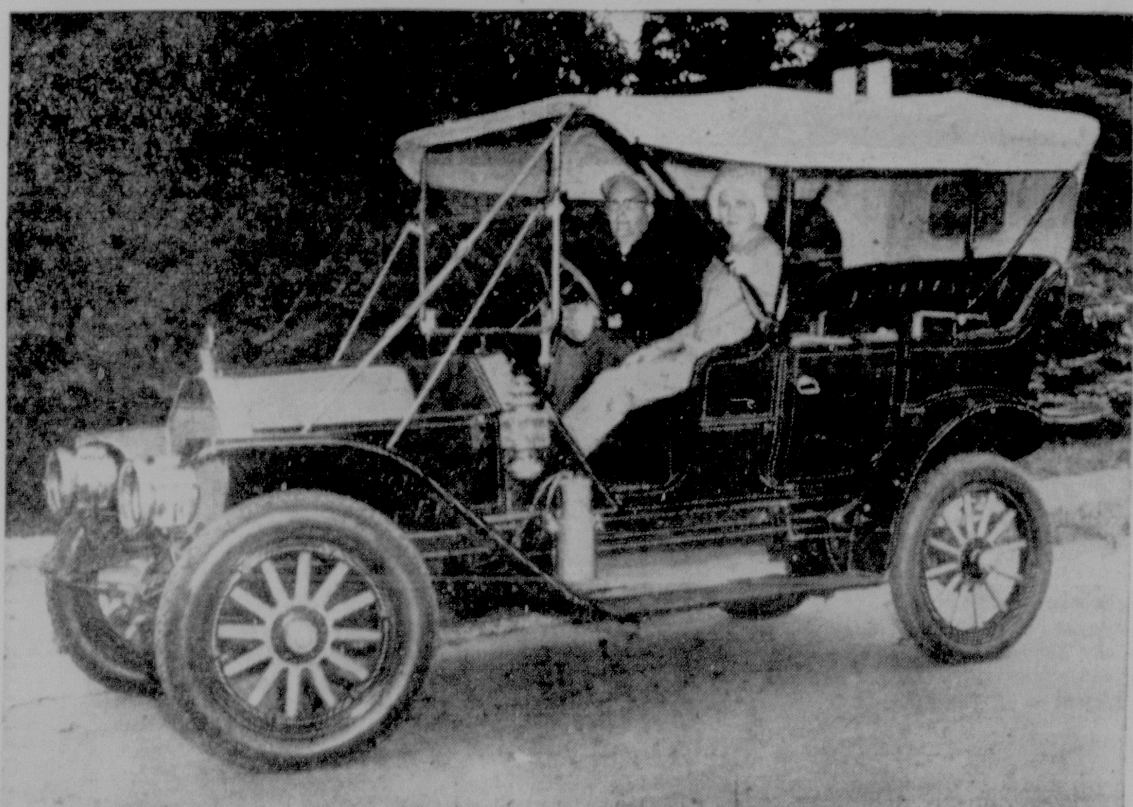

Police said Parry apparently left no note. His personal effects were found on the front seat of the car.

The body was released to the Hough Funeral Home, Bangor. Parry, unmarried, was employed as a clerk at Collins and Aikman, Bangor.

Parade Of Ancient Vintage Motor Cars In Area Marks 1961 Glidden Tour

THE 1961 Glidden Tour, consisting of 253 antique cars, passed through Stroudsburg yesterday afternoon en route from Scranton to Allentown.

The tour used the eastbound lanes of the new Stroudsburg Thruway, not yet open to the general public, for the trip from Park Ave. in Stroudsburg to the Delaware Water Gap exit.

Hundreds of interested persons lined the streets as the antique cars, ranging from 1905 Reo Runabouts and 1909 Stanley Steamers to Oldsmobiles, Stutz Bearcats, Mercers, Maxwells, Fords, Chevrolets, Packards, Cadillacs and Rolls Royces passed through.

Earlier in the day, the caravan left Scranton and stopped at Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot for a tour of the facility and lunch.

Accompanying the tour were Lord and Lady Montague from Beaulieu, England, where Lord Montague owns the Montague Motor Museum.

Leading the tour was Mahlon Patton, president of the Antique Auto Club of America. Tuesday night, members of the tour took part in ceremonies marking the ceremonial lighting of Scranton's new street lighting system.

RESIDENTS OF THE STROUDSBURGS were treated to a parade of ancient vehicles, part of the annual Glidden Tour, yesterday. The ancient cars went through all day and some of them were photographed by Daily Record Staff Photographers MacLeod and Carlton. In the pic-

Three New York City Men Purchase Colonial Diner

THREE MANHATTAN, N. Y., businessmen have purchased the Colonial Diner, Main St., Stroudsburg, it was learned yesterday.

The purchase price was not disclosed but it was believed to be in excess of $200,000.

The new owners are Lou An-draws, Panagiotis Kariganis, and Panos Grilas.

Grilas, who operated his own restaurant in Chicago several years ago, is a brother-in-law to Andrews. All have had prior experience in the restaurant business.

Pocono Mts. Airport Will Close During 'Sky Shield'

POCONO Mountains Airport at Mt. Pocono—along with all others throughout the nation—will be closed to civilian airline flights and private flying from 1 p. m. Saturday until 1 a. m. Sunday.

The ban on such flights was announced by the U. S. Air Force as part of the North American Defense Exercise "Sky Shield." The Air Force said the restriction is "in the interest of safety and to permit full utilization of the entire radar and electronics system employed in air defense."

A spokesman for the Pocono Mountains Airport said it has been asked to watch for violations of the ban.

The Air Force said that since many jet type aircraft will be participating in the exercise, it is possible that "sonic boom" disturbances may occur locally during the period.

Sonic booms occur when planes break the sound barrier by exceeding the speed of sound, which is 760 miles an hour.

Sister Of Late King Dies

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Princess Dagmar, 71, a sister of the late King Christian X of Denmark, died Wednesday after a long illness. She renounced her title in 1922 when she married Jorgen Carl Gustav Castenskjold, master of the royal foxhounds, but to the Danes she always was Princess Dagmar. Her husband and four children survive.

here now...for '62 FOUR NEW THUNDERBIRDS starring a smart Sports Roadster and a sophisticated Landau

This year Thunderbird's unique flair is expressed in four great originals—a scintillating quartet of models that make America's most envied car more enviable still. There is the crisp beauty of the four-passenger Hardtop, undisputed trend-setter of the American Road. There is the sun worshiper's own edition, the swift-lined Convertible.

Third is 1962's unique concept of total luxury, the new limited-edition Sports Roadster. Sleek as a racing hydroplane, arrogantly individual in its gleaming sweep of deck, this is the most exciting invitation to two-passenger travel ever issued... and removal of the tonneau cover reveals the standard Thunderbird rear seat when four must journey.

Fourth, there's now a Thunderbird in evening dress, the Landau... an ultramodern version of the luxurious town car, with lustrous leather-grained vinyl top.

All four are pure Thunderbird, graced with the individual ease that is Thunderbird's hallmark; the creative touches from "floating" rearview mirror to separate, molded foam rubber seats that set this car apart; the velvet authority of Thunderbird V-8 power. All four are crafted to Thunderbird standards of extraordinary quality and polished perfection of performance—a perfection you will want to see and sample at your Ford Dealer's now.

This year the unique Swing-Away steering wheel, which moves over to let the driver enter, is standard on all Thunderbirds.

The slip-stream headrests of the Sports Roadster are an integral part of the lift-off tonneau cover (which can remain in place while the top is raised or lowered). Standard equipment includes chrome wire wheels.

A gleaming traditional S-bar on the leather-grained vinyl top distinguishes the new Landau. It has the power steering and power brakes that are standard equipment on all Thunderbirds.

Fallout Shelter Confusion

The nation's much-publicized fallout shelter program is seriously hampered by a mass of confusion and conflicting official statements, documents and rulings.

In fact, a man who builds a shelter for his family right now is partaking of a "delusion," according to one state governor; is being impractical, according to a House of Representatives committee, and may be erecting a dangerous, sub-standard dwelling, according to the building codes in numerous cities—all this, and even more, despite the fact that he uses official Office of Defense Mobilization shelter design.

In July, President Kennedy urged and won Congressional approval of a $207 million shelter program. Yet in June, the government had eliminated nearly two million dollars for shelters in a new $78 million federal building to be built in New York next year. Then a little later, Congress appropriated $7.5 million for shelters to be built in federal offices.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York has urged a compulsory shelter building program in his state, but Gov. Robert Meyner, whose state—New Jersey—sits in the same prime target area for nuclear assault, just last month described as a "delusion" any suggestion that fallout shelters might assure the survival of large numbers of persons.

Confusion also reigns at local levels, with entanglements being encountered in building codes, zoning ordinances, and a fear that shelters being built for protection from nuclear fallout will gradually be equipped as everyday dwellings.

Confusion even reigns in trying to determine the public's interest in shelters. Manufacturers claim orders have soared since President Kennedy delivered his mobilization message to the people. But examination of building permit volume tells a different story. In the three-week period ending Sept. 15, Los Angeles issued 120 permits for family fallout shelters; Dallas issued fewer than 30; Detroit, "only a handful," and New York City, only one.

It's high time some of the fallout shelter confusion was cleared up!

His Dutch Was Up

It takes a plucky little fellow to stand up to a much bigger one and punch him on the nose. When he does, there are bound to be cheers, particularly from those the bully has been pushing around.

The Dutch policeman, who took a healthy swing and connected with the Soviet ambassador when that brassy functionary claimed more rights in Amsterdam than he would have in Moscow, should be getting his share of applause.

Communists are the first to claim privileges from others they themselves grant no one.

In this instance they battered their way into a police station where the Dutch were questioning a Russian tourist who couldn't quite decide whether she loved her husband more than she feared for the safety of her mother back home! When the burly ambassador overstepped his bounds, the policeman tossed protocol to the winds. He demonstrated convincingly that there are limits to diplomatic immunity even for Russians.

It's time some other nations, including this one, get their dutch up and serve just as effective notice on any foreign emissaries who believe diplomatic immunity from arrest and prosecution gives them the right to make their own rules and take the laws into their own hands. It doesn't.

German Survival

I saw a piece about Germany in which it was said that the Germans are the greatest miscalculators in history. I presume that the writer referred to World War I and World War II. But the German people have existed for many centuries, even before Julius Caesar tried his hand at history, and the Teutonic peoples have produced so much in education, philosophy, history, anthropology, chemistry, physics and every field of learning that it is impossible to say that they miscalculated.

What can be said was that they were defeated in two wars, although they have been victorious in many more wars. They were defeated by the superiority of American industry and the willingness and capacity of our industrialists and workers to be productive.

This has nothing to do with miscalculation because every study of American production in, say 1912, would have justified the assumption that Germany could win a war against Great Britain, France and Russia. And Germany held out from 1914 to 1917 when the United States upset the balance by entering World War I actively. Similarly, Hitler was able to hold out on multiple fronts from 1939 to 1945, but weakened and was ultimately defeated by the genius and capacity of American industry. World War II was won in the mills and factories of America.

The nature of war has changed and we are now faced by a science which can be known by a small nation as well as by a great nation. France manufactured an atom bomb; so did little Israel. Automation destroys any monopoly of production. Mass production can be accomplished by small countries as well as by large; automation eliminates the need for enormous industrialized populations. In fact, automation may produce such difficult social problems that larger populations will be disadvantageous.

The Germans have proved after World War II that their intellectual capacity was unimpaired by war and failure. Not only did West Germany succeed in rebuilding a prosperous state with a high and rising economy but it convinced its former adversaries that Germany was an invaluable bastion of Western civilization.

It has been said that West Germany could not have achieved such a reconstruction without American aid; the wisdom of Western Germany is made evident in the swift turn-about from Hitlerism to capitalism and the establishment of a government acceptable to its former enemies. The Adenauer-De Gaulle Alliance, personal though it may be,

is one of the strongest anti-Russian forces today.

If the writer of Germany's miscalculations was familiar with European history, he would know that for a thousand years, it was the Germans who kept the Slav out of what was historically regarded as Europe. The Teutonic knights, the dukes of Saxony, the Germans fighting in Latvia kept the Slav closed in. Peter the Great foresaw the nature of this struggle between East and West and moved his capital from Moscow to St. Petersburg, now Leningrad, which pushed Russia further into Europe.

World War II was essentially a struggle between Russia and Germany for the domination of the world. Hitler attempted to achieve this objective without war and in 1939, the Molotov-Ribbentrop Pact was arranged. It could not last because both Stalin and Hitler were insincere. Stalin, as a Marxist, could only think in terms of the conquest of the entire world by Marxism-Leninism.

He could not tolerate an anti-Marxist force such as Hitler had built. On the other hand, Hitler could not be a true ally of Stalin for the same reasons in reverse. They therefore split and their alliance failed. But Hitler had managed to weaken the Soviet economy.

Hitler's error lay in an utter misunderstanding of the mentality of Franklin D. Roosevelt. There is ample evidence that Roosevelt's principal antagonism was toward British imperialism.

As a matter of fact, World War II was being fought from September 1, 1939 until December 7, 1941 without direct American participation and when the United States did go to war, it was because of the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor and not because of anything the Germans did. Suppose the Japanese had not attacked at Pearl Harbor, would Roosevelt have found a way to intervene in the war against Germany? If there was such a possibility, why could he not find it prior to Pearl Harbor?

The assumption that the Germans miscalculated is based upon a lack of understanding of the forces that move nations to war. Hitler's principal enemy was Soviet Russia. Any correct reading of history since October 1917 establishes that Soviet Russia had been the enemy of the United States. What is occurring today only substantiates Roosevelt's historic miscalculation.

Local Elections' Effect On Governor

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — There is a strong possibility that next month's series of local elections throughout the state may have a decidedly influencing effect on the future course of the administration of Governor Lawrence.

At the moment however any such possibility is difficult to assess. Administration leaders themselves are not sure even at this pre-election date just what to expect and in turn just what the results ultimately may indicate.

One thing appears certain. Administration forces are looking for the November 7 vote to provide some clue as to whether they should persist in present far-reaching policies, or taper off into more mellow fields.

In this respect it is unfortunate there is no top-flight statewide issue at stake on which some sort of sound judgement or evaluation can be pegged.

As matters stand at the moment it must perforce resolve itself into a relative question of interpretation of how the electorate handles party candidates for local offices — and the lone statewide office up for grabs, the State Supreme Court post.

Advices to this column indicate that if Democrats continue to hold — generally — the offices they already have with possibly a slight gain, and can move into the lead on the statewide judgeship post, administration forces will be prone to view this as just about as close a "mandate" as possible in an off-year election.

Should this develop, it is expected this in turn will mean a continuance of their basic policy of persisting in their somewhat far-reaching goals — notwithstanding the political split Legislatures that so far have held them in tow.

As an example — a slightly better than break-even to November 7 on the local front may well mean a step-up in the strong determination of administration forces to hold more firmly than ever to their record-breaking billion dollar budgets which Republican anti-administration forces have stoutly opposed in favor of appropriation cuts.

Additionally, what Administration forces read into the vote is expected to have much to do with the spirit, degree and determination with which they enter compromise talks with their Republican counterparts on the thorny reapportionment front.

Tied in also will be the degree of dogged persistence with which administration forces will pursue other heretofore hard-fought goals in such fields as education, mental health, industrial development of depressed areas, improved labor legislation and a number of other similar programs — for the most part locked in legislative halls with anti-administration forces holding the key to the door.

In the main it should be noted that the Lawrence Administration actually has pulled a leaf from the Democratic Rooseveltian era in seeking what are really widespread social reforms for Pennsylvania. This is the backbone of the current administration's concepts.

Whether this is popular or meets with the approval of the electorate of the state as a whole no one knows, for since its introduction there has been little opportunity for a clear-cut indication.

Next month's local elections may provide the closest opportunity available for an observation in this direction. Even these results however can by no means be accepted as conclusive in light of the strictly local issues involved. However the contests may offer somewhat of an "indication" at least — which is what administration forces are counting on.

Off The Record

Les Drake, the transportation man, plans a waiting room for a bus stop, a lunch counter and other extras at his newly acquired building at 7th and Main Sts., Stroudsburg.

Drake, owner of a taxicab and bus service, recently bought the building from Joe Small. The building formerly was owned by Willard Quick, Monroe County commissioner. Small is the Republican candidate for mayor in Stroudsburg.

In previous years under the Quick and later Small ownership the establishment on the corner was a favorite eating and drinking emporium for many of Monroe's finest clientele. Before the Quick and Small regimes, a restaurant held forth under the appropriate banner — Star.

Drake's renovations include all of the side dishes that are needed to make a prospective cab or bus customer happy. Food, non-alcoholic beverages and a TV-dotted waiting room are included in his plans.

He also hopes to be able to corral a few meters on the outside (Main Street) for a stand for his ever-moving taxis. However, this remains to be seen, depending on the action of The City Fathers (Council).

Incidentally, the liquor license of Small's has been sold to John Bachman, an oil firm executive. No move of the license has been made yet but it is understood that the certificate will be transferred to a site in South Stroudsburg. However, this will not take place until at least a year from now.

Bennett Cerf Try and Stop Me

A high-powered insurance agent talked an aging and overworked book publisher (look who's talking!) into taking out a big new policy. The publisher submitted to a physical examination, then waited in vain for word from the agent. Finally, the agent wrote to explain the delay.

"You may have noticed," he said, "that our company doctor makes out a chart and punches a hole in it whenever he finds something that isn't just right with the applicant. Well, the doctor took your chart home with him and tried it out on his old player piano. The tune it played was (I'm sorry to note) a dirge."

A sensitive G. I., back from an eighteen-month stretch in foreign clime, reports, "I'll never forget the day our transport landed back in San Francisco. I hadn't seen an American girl for ten weeks. I rushed to my girl's house to dine with her and her family. I could hardly wait to get her alone in the ping pong room. She beat me, too—21 to 14."

The Allen-Scott Report

President Bars New Farm Price Subsidies

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President Kennedy is quietly barring the Agriculture Department from making new price support commitments on major farm commodities without White House approval.

This fiscal rein tightening is being ordered by the President as the first of a series of major economy moves that he plans to take to cut domestic government spending before Congress returns in January.

His objective: a balanced federal budget for fiscal '63, that runs from July 1, 1962, to July 1, 1963.

The President issued his order after Walter Heller, chairman of his Council of Economic Advisers, warned that this year's bumper farm crops were threatening to increase government farm price support payments by more than 2 billion.

An increase of such proportions would throw the fiscal '63 budget completely out of balance. In addition to his veto order, the President is asking Heller to make a study to determine if farm subsidies could be drastically reduced during the coming year. Heller's findings are due by December 1.

At present, the Agriculture Department has holdings of surplus farm commodities valued at slightly more than $7 billion. According to Agriculture Department aides, these government surpluses could climb to $9 billion next year unless new production curbs are ordered this year.

On request of the President, Agriculture Department officials are considering a possible cut in the national cotton quota to help reduce the high cost of the price support and subsidy program. A reduction of 2½ million acres is being mentioned in administration circles. The present national quota is 18.5 million acres, while cotton producers want it boosted to around 20 million. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman must announce the 1962 cotton allotments by Oct. 15.

Storm Warnings — In a major effort to head off this cotton acreage allotment reduction, eight cotton state senators, headed by Senator Allen Ellender, D., La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, have appealed directly to the President.

In their letter, they warned that a sharp cut in quotas "would lead to a possible cotton shortage that would be detrimental to the national interests at a time of threatened war."

"A prospective shortage in supply would touch off scare buying around the world," the Senators wrote, "which would temporarily stimulate U.S. cotton exports and increase the cost of export subsidy."

President Kennedy acknowledged the appeal without making a commitment. He had Larry O'Brien, his top liaison man with Congress, reply that "the whole cotton situation is being carefully studied."

Senators making the appeal included James O. Eastland, D., Miss.; Olin D. Johnston, D., S.C.; Everett Jordan, D., N.C.; Clair Engle, O., Calif.; Richard Russell, D., Ga.; and Carl Hayden, D., Ariz.

Cutting Back — Other spending cutbacks under consideration by the President and his top fiscal aides include the impounding of $200 million in extra defense funds voted by Congress; a slow-down in spending for public works projects; and limiting of manpower hiring by several government agencies.

White House aides report that the President is planning to try to bring the 1963 budget into balance despite the big boost in military spending caused by the Berlin crisis.

"By ordering reductions now," a presidential aide points out, "the President is getting ready to meet his congressional spending critics head on in January."

Looking Ahead — President Kennedy is sounding out key members of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy to determine their reaction to legislation giving Canada nuclear weapons. The proposal is now under secret discussion between the President and Prime Minister John Diefenbaker. The law now specifically prohibits the government from giving any country atomic weapons. . . . The State Department is predicting that Karl Schirdewan, whom Red boss Walter Ulbricht purged three years ago, will be picked by the Kremlin to take over in East Germany next year. The report, sent to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, says that Ulbricht will be ousted at the same time Konrad Adenauer retires from office in West Germany. . . . Representative Francis E. Walter, the Pennsylvania Democrat who heads the House Un-American Activities Committee, is telling Capitol friends that he is considering reversing his earlier decision to retire and may seek re-election. . . . California's AFL-CIO leaders have pledged their support to help Senator Thomas Kuchel, R., Calif., win re-election in 1962. They like his labor voting record in the Senate and expect him to win easily. . . . Pentagon officials here report that Britain will soon revive the draft which was dropped last year. Volunteer enlistments are lagging. . . . President Kennedy's UN speech made U.S. enlistments jump by 10 per cent, according to Army recruiters.

Progress is never a gay party. It is an ordeal. Only those who survive storms flourish in the sun. Sacrifice is the touchstone of glory. Columbus faced contempt before he launched his voyage. And he was confronted with much disdain after completing it. Of course, courage is a lonely attribute and men of vision are usually honored by historians rather than by contemporaries. The Magna Charta's ideals were originally regarded as nonsense. The Declaration of Independence was widely despised in this country. Tories earnestly believed democracy's concepts were unattainable. Every vital accomplishment has been challenged by despair and stupidity. As a matter of fact, there are many in the world today who deride the Ten Commandments.

Columbus' tiny fleet averaged 142 miles a day. They sailed their way across the ocean in 33 days. In the 20th Century modern means of communication have annihilated time and space.

There is inspiring historical justice in the fact that the Columbus crew comprised men of varied backgrounds. For in the centuries that followed people of different origins crossed the Atlantic to give life and vigor to a new nation. The immigrants were inheritors of a proud and stalwart tradition inaugurated by Columbus. They were valiant and adventurous. They were willing to undergo incredible hardships to make a reality of their brightest aspirations. Their compelling force was hope. American frontiersmen of the 18th Century subdued a wilderness many declared could not be conquered. And they established a civilization men of little faith insisted could not endure.

The Great Adventure

Columbus' voyage was an achievement in seamanship that has never been surpassed. More profoundly, the geographic accomplishment had a catalytic influence on the course of history.

Columbus was the first to indicate what some people still find difficult to accept — the ocean is more of a bridge than a barrier. In a very real sense the extension of civilization's horizon revolutionized the future of mankind. Down through the years it has represented an astounding victory over fear and ignorance. In addition, it symbolizes a monument to courage and inspires a testament to hope. The epic voyage, it is hardly startling to note, has given renewed faith to pioneers in every field of endeavor.

One historical truism remains constant: The more things change, the more they are the same. Constant turbulence rocked humanity during the 1490s. Nations were split into hostile communities. Culture retreated before the forces of barbarism. Christianity suffered severe setbacks and many reverted to paganism. Cynicism and despair were widespread. Fear and suspicion were rampant. Numerous philosophers were forecasting the fall of humanity. Grim prophecies that find mournful echoes in the 20th Century. Most prophets contended they were witnessing the twilight of civilization. . . . In retrospect, the world of the 1490s is now classified as a time when mankind was still in its morning.

New Pocono Medical Center Open

THREE years of dreams, difficulties and hard work are being realized this week as ten Monroe County doctors move into the new Pocono Medical Center they have cooperated to build on Brown St. in East Stroudsburg.

The modern one-story building of brick, stone and wood fills a long-empty space across from the General Hospital of Monroe County and also fills a long-felt need in the community.

A triumph of private enterprise made possible through the cooperative efforts of the doctors themselves, the new venture is the first of its kind here. The doctors have visited similar centers in many other communities and come up with their own solution, which varies in many respects from other centers.

Invest Own Funds

In some places, commercial interests have erected the building, renting to doctors as tenants; here the doctors have invested their own funds.

In other places, doctors with different specialties have joined together in sort of a community clinic; here, each doctor will continue his own private practice, sharing the building and its facilities.

Rea and Derick is leasing the front section of the building for a "professional" rather than "popular" type of drug store, specializing in drugs and prescriptions.

The Pocono Medical Center is another step in concentrating many medical services in one area. In addition to the major one, The General Hospital, the Visiting Nurses Assn., the Child Guidance Clinic, and other related health services have their offices in the area.

Although there is no connection between the hospital and the Medical Center, both the hospital and the doctors, all on the staff of the hospital, will be within easy call of the hospital and the hospital will be conveniently available for those of their patients needing hospital facilities.

Considered Hospital The doctors have considered the hospital in all of their planning. For instance, the drug store will not have a soda fountain which might be considered to be in competition with the Hospitality Shop in the hospital across the street. The drug store has no interior connection with the suites of offices whose individual entrances are located along the sides of the building.

Grilled stonework and gardens of rocks and plants add privacy to the entrances. Inside, color in walls and panels add to the modern feeling of light and space.

Among the common facilities which the doctors will share are the use of laboratories and the equipment of the business office such as dictaphones and other modern business machines.

Maintain Own Office

Each doctor, however, will maintain his own office and have his own telephone. The individual facilities are being varied to suit the tastes of the individual doctors and include waiting rooms, offices, consultation rooms, treatment and examination rooms and nurses' stations.

Parking space for 55 cars has been provided at the sides and rear of the building.

Dr. Sherwood Samet was the first tenant to move into his offices. Dr. Harold Pond is now a veteran of four days in his new location. Today will be mass moving day for the other eight doctors who expect to resume their office hours on Friday. The drug store is tentatively scheduled to open in about one week.

PV Board Airs Purchase Of Coolers

BRODHEADSVILLE — Pleasant Valley Joint School Committee discussed the purchase of several water coolers, one door and the construction of a canopy at the door where the children enter and leave the Polk Township School. It took no action on any of the projects.

In other business, the group granted working papers to one eighth grade pupil and deferred action on another pending a report from the child's family doctor.

After approving the minutes and a motion to pay the bills of the jointure the meeting was adjourned.

Boiler Tests Stir E-Burg Residents

EAST Stroudsburg residents living in the vicinity of East Stroudsburg State College can relax—the place is NOT blowing up.

Workmen for the General State Authority, currently installing a new boiler for the college, are conducting a series of tests to determine whether it can be brought up to minimum standards. Escaping steam and a shrill noise which accompanies it have disturbed some neighbors in the campus area. There was no indication last night how long the tests will continue.

Gulf Leases Wayne Land

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP) — The Gulf Oil Co. filed oil and gas leases on 2,574 acres in northern Wayne County with the office of register and recorder Wednesday.

The leases were obtained from 13 parties. Amounts paid for the 10-year leases were not divulged. There was no indication whether Gulf planned to start test drilling or exploration.

Bangor School Seen Opening On Schedule

BANGOR — Members of the Bangor area Joint School Committee indicated at their regular meeting last night that they have not received any information to the contrary that the new senior high school building would not be completed by Dec. 5.

Several rumors had been circulated that a delay might be anticipated but at the meeting no official information to this effect has been received.

In other action, the board instructed H. F. Everett Associates of Allentown, architects, to submit estimates for the construction of a cinder track and/or a combination of a cinder track and football field at the new school.

Board members indicated that this in no way was to be interpreted that they are planning to construct a new stadium at the new school.

Receive Letters

A letter from the American Red Cross, expressing the regrets that no collection for this organization may be made among students was referred to the education committee for consideration.

The board authorized an expenditure of $1499 for additional insulation on the north side of the new gym of the senior high building.

Another letter was received by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways stating that the curbing erected at the new high school is encroaching on the state highway right of way.

The board feels that the highway department is in error and has instructed its engineer, Michael Pollicelli, to investigate.

They also requested M. L. Albarelli, electrical contractor to explain additional charges of $981 in his latest bill on the new building.

J. H. Beers and Company was awarded a contract to install a 6,000 gallon gasoline tank at the school with island and pump at a cost of $2,160. The contract for a new four-wheel drive vehicle for use by the school district was awarded to the Blue Valley Sales and Service at their bid of $3,256.46.

Joseph Kulp, bus driver, was awarded a daily salary of $6 per day and contracts for the use of buses owned by the joint system were signed with Bangor and Portland.

Robert Butz was hired as a trainer-coach for the football team at a salary to be pro rated at this point season.

Ancient Vehicles Visit Depot

SOME OF the world's most ancient vehicles mingled with the U. S. Army's newest at Tobyhanna Signal Depot yesterday.

Stopping at the depot in 264 vintage cars were more than 500 members of the Antique Automobile Club of America. They were greeted by Acting Commander Brig. Gen. W. W. Watts, who recalled that as a boy he had polished the brass on a neighbor's car in exchange for his first ride around the block. He also told the group that "these autos prove that America doesn't build for obsolescence."

The cars, parked around the Administration building, were viewed by soldiers and civilians during their lunch period.

Knox Runabout

Included in the array was a three-wheel, one-cylinder 1901 Knox Runabout owned by Roger Johnson of Hadley, Mass. There were also cars from Texas, including a 1923 Cadillac V-63 and a 1929 Ford roadster; a 1911 Cadillac limousine, a 1911 Rolls Royce touring and a 1916 Simplex from Florida, and from Reno, Nev., a 1911 Pope Hartford touring car—all of which came most of the way under their own power.

On hand for the day were Lord and Lady Montague, collectors of ancient cars in Europe, who arrived by plane from England yesterday afternoon.

After a tour of the depot and lunch in the cafeteria, the club headed for Allentown, then to West Chester and Wilmington, Del. Their six-day 16th Annual Glidden Tour ends in Harrisburg Friday.

At High-Level ESSC Parley

Math Teaching Machine Eyed

"LET YOUR student discover the Pythagorean theory for himself," teachers and school administrators meeting last night at ESSC were urged by William Shannon, representative of the Teaching Materials Corp., New York.

By use of a mathematics teaching machine, the individual student is taken, step by step, through the processes the great Greek mathematician took centuries ago, until "he comes to the point where he is able to discover the theory that Pythagoras propounded after years of study."

Dr. John C. Appel, chairman of the Current Teaching Practices Committee at state college, invited the faculty of the college and public school administrators from Clark Summit, Easton, Bethlehem, Northampton, Wyoming Borough, Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, to attend the meeting where they could see a teaching machine demonstrated, and hear an expert's discussion of its possibilities.

Wave Of The Future?
Proponents of teaching machines consider them to have endless possibilities in the education field, and to represent the "wave of the future."

To date they are in use, in varying extent, at Harvard, Oberlin, Hamilton, Dartmouth, Earlham, University of Pittsburgh and Ohio State.

"Programmed learning, via machines, is for the individual student and is more effective and faster than regular classroom teaching as we know it now," Shannon said. This is because the machine program, he went on to point out, is based on three psychological learning principles.

...A student learns easily, he does something as he learns, and he receives a reward for learning. Instead of pages, as in a textbook, the machine teaching is done on "frames." Each frame has an easy-to-take step; each step leads to the next. Also, each frame has some form of question that will test the student's understanding of what he has just read.

The machines are electrical and non-electrical or hand operated. In the ones demonstrated last night the student turned the machine by hand, bringing up frame by frame, or learning step by step.

A discussion followed the demonstration at last night's meeting. Several teachers raised the objection that the machines are not equally desirable or effective in all fields. In a subject such as social studies, several men stated, critical thinking and value judgments are most important and, they queried, "Can a machine teach this?"

DEAN GETS A LESSON—Dr. Francis B. McGarry, dean of instruction at East Stroudsburg State College, "turns" himself a machine lesson on mathematics, while Dr. John C. Appel, of the college faculty looks over his shoulder. The teaching machine was brought for demonstration to a meeting of educators and public school administrators last night at state college, by William Shannon, representative of Teaching Materials Corp., N. Y.

S-burg Lions Hear Talk On 'Psychology Of Fireman'

THE Stroudsburg Lions Club heard Harvey Burris speak on the "Psychology of a Fireman" at their dinner-meeting Tuesday night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Burris, a member of the Stroudsburg Phoenix Fire Co., pointed out that many of the volunteer firemen give up comfort and safety in order to protect the lives of the citizens.

"What he does, he does gratis, for the community," he said.

"But after all is said and done, the psychology of the fireman seems to be rooted and founded in something unselfish, something altruistic, found imbedded in that greatest of human institution — the human heart."

In other business, Jack Bohan was congratulated on his birthday and former president Dr. Paul Maxwell reported on the birthday celebration of the Portland Lions Club organized 15 years ago by William P. Deering, Dr. James H. Gavin and Gerald Shanley, Sr. Lions Deering, Glenn Kondrick and Dr. Maxwell made up the Stroudsburg club delegation at the party honoring the Portland organization. Sidney Effross, former head of the Portland club, was toastmaster, and Deering was the honored speaker. The party was held at the Pavilion near Phillipsburg, N.J.

Lion president Abeloff urged that a delegation attend the Barrett Club birthday which will be featured on Oct. 25.

15 'Army' Leaders Set For Parley

FIFTEEN local Salvation Army youths and leaders will attend the Territorial Corps Cadet Congress at Memorial Temple, W. 14th St., New York City this weekend.

The group will leave at 2 p.m. Friday from the S. Courtland St. citadel under direction of Major H. G. Baker and Lt. Benjamin Stroudt.

The local group, all members of the Corps Cadet brigade, will include Mildred Winters, Gary and Nancy Baker, Edward and Gloria Reinheimer, Lucy Shirley, Eleanor and Catherine Counterman, Alberta Sargent, Wayne and Floria Lattjens and Daniel Fetherman.

The three-day conference, which ends Sunday will be conducted by Commissioner and Mrs. Holland French, territorial commanders, and their staffs.

Lt. and Mrs. Robert Stultwell, Long Beach, Calif., will be featured at the congress. Lt. Stultwell was a football player for the University of California and was named most valuable lineman in the 1948 Rose Bowl Game.

Theme of the congress will be "For the Cross and the Flag" and 1,800 delegates from 13 eastern states will participate.

Laymen's Breakfast Sunday

MOUNTAINHOME — Ham and eggs will be served up at the Laymen's breakfast Sunday morning. The Ushers Association of the Mountainhome Methodist Church are sponsoring the 7:45 a.m. breakfast.

Raymond Kropp, Kenneth Brutzman and Willard Sengle Jr. are listed among the chefs. Arthur, Paul and John Reisenwitz also will perform in the kitchen.

Following the breakfast, the men will attend the 8:30 a.m. worship service and members of the laity will conduct both that service and the 10:45 a.m. service.

All men and boys of the congregation and their friends are invited to the meal.

Sales Go Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Sales of Grand Union Co., big supermarket chain, continued to run ahead of last year's totals in the five weeks ended Sept. 30. Cluster Flies In The Attic

By George Abraham

CLUSTER Flies: This is the time of year folks are pestered with cluster flies in the attic. Also called "buckwheat" flies (they smell a bit like buckwheat honey) these pests gather in the attic window and attic stairway, and they are worse in fall as they enter a warm home to spend the winter. No matter how tight your windows are, these flies have a way of entering. Fortunately, they are not as "dirty" as the ordinary house fly, but their presence can be annoying. Control: Spray the areas where they congregate, using aerosol bomb sprays available in any grocery store. These space sprays do a good job knocking off the flies and in a short time you can gather dead ones by the cupful. You'll have to spray 3 or 4 times a week as the flies come in droves and that's the only way to keep the fly population down. On warm days they crawl out from behind clapboards and window casings and become active. On cool days they go back into the house.

Chinking up the cracks in window sills is often suggested as a way to keep these flies out, but it's impossible to make an old home fly-tight, no matter how hard you try. Many home owners use a vacuum sweeper on the live pests and this does a good job when the flies are in great numbers. The old-fashioned fly stickers, hung from ceilings still attract thousands of the pests.

Lilac Bushes: Gardeners ask if it is possible to start lilacs from suckers produced by old lilac bushes. Will the plants be true to color? Yes, the rooted shoots (called "suckers") may be dug up almost any time of the year (except winter) and planted. A lilac sucker makes a perfectly healthy and normal plant with same color as the parent bush. You can also root cuttings in May. Take cuttings 5 inches long, remove leaves from base and root these under glass jars. Or you can take hardwood cuttings (in early winter) and insert in a flat of sand kept moist and cool in a cold frame or cellar. Rooting takes place in spring. If you want to try your hand at grafting or budding a favorite lilac, take slips of lilacs in spring and graft them on California Privet understock.

Flowering Pears: When a pear tree (loaded with fruit) sends out blossoms too, is this a rare phenomenon? No, it happens often. Quince, Magnolia, pears and other fruit trees often flower in the fall, even while fruit is on the limbs. No one knows for sure just what happens to wake up the flower buds, but it's nothing to be alarmed about. One reader wrote to tell us that this portends death in the family, a notion which is pure superstition. Nature often pulls pranks like this, and the late flowering will in no way affect the health of the tree, as many believe.

Double Gloxinias: Did you know you can sow seed of this fine house plant and get 100% double and true to color? These spectacular plants have 20 to 30 blossoms and extra foliage, making them much more handsome than the ordinary single varieties. Seed should be sowed in a 1 1/2 sand, 1/2 peat and 1/2 vermiculite (or perlite) mixture, since it is light and will not germinate in a tight mixture. If you don't want to bother growing them from seed you can plant double gloxinia tubers, or single types, separate or mixed. Planted now, they will blossom for you by Christmas.

Keeping Apples: Many of our readers like to keep apples over winter, but this is a hard job with our modern homes being built and heated the way they are. There are various tricks you can use to winterize apples. One consists of placing them in clean ash cans and burying them in the garden. Cover with metal top and a foot of straw to keep out the frost. Another tested idea is to knock the lock off an old refrigerator, bury this backside down in the ground. The appliance's insulation will keep apples in perfect condition for months. Better add a straw mulch for extra protection. And don't forget to knock the lock off. Carrots and other vegetables will keep well in this refrigerator.

If you have a cool cellar and want to keep apples from "scalding" try placing shredded mineral oil paper scattered throughout the apples. One half pound per bushel is effective in absorbing the gases apples give off. Storage scald is that brown discoloration of skin of apples, and it's worse on immature fruit. So don't pick fruit that is green. Grimes, York, Rome Beauty, Stayman and Winesap are highly susceptible varieties.

Rose Water: Although most garden roses are just about gone, here's a note you can clip out for next summer, on making rose water, a distillate of rose petals. Gather fresh, fragrant petals, wash carefully, and fill a tea-kettle half full of water, and add rose petals. Then put on low heat. Attach a plastic hose to spout of kettle, with other end draining into a jar on the floor. Submerge middle section of hose in dishpan of ice water, which will cool the steam from the kettle and gradually drip your pure rose water into the jar. FREE: Want to know more about uses of roses for food and toilet? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for a copy of my brand new bulletin, "Roses Can Be Used For Food And Perfume!" Our bulletin is full of good tricks for converting blossoms into food and soaps, rose cold cream, rose butter, and other novelties. It'll make fine winter reading, but send for your copy now. Please don't forget the self-addressed, stamped envelope.

T. K. of Wind Gap: "We plan to have a church bazaar and would like to sell pine cones treated with chemicals so they'll burn with different colors. Please tell us how and what to use."

You can use various chemicals to produce different flame colors. Here are the chemicals, and these can be purchased from most drug stores: Barium sulfate (blue flame); copper sulfate (blue flame); strontium nitrate (red); calcium chloride (orange); copper chloride (green); lithium chloride (or potassium permanganate) both producing purple flames. Simplest and best method for treating is to dip the cones into a solution of the chemical and water. Dissolve chemical in water at rate of 1 pound to a gallon. Then place the cones in a cloth mesh bag, such as an old onion sack, and immerse into the solution. Use rubber gloves and it's also a good idea to use an old dishpan, since the chemicals will destroy the metal. After soaking cones for 15 minutes, allow to drain, then spread on newspapers to dry overnight. When dry, they are ready for use in the fireplace. Wooden blocks will give the same effect as pine cones.

JFK Creates Special Board

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has ordered creation of an emergency board to look into a labor dispute between Trans World Airlines and 150 navigators. White House officials said the dispute could lead to a strike against the whole airlines system.

The setting up of the board automatically allows 30 days for an investigation of the dispute and bars a strike within that period.

The navigators are members of the Transport Workers Union of America. The White House was advised they serve mostly on overseas routes but that the dispute could spread to other routes. It involves modification of the existing contract, wage demands and rules changes.

700 Die In India Flood

CALCUTTA, India (AP)—Floods sweeping Bihar State in northeast India have claimed more than 700 lives, reports reaching here said yesterday.

Bihar's chief minister, Pandit Jha, who flew over the flooded areas Saturday, told newsmen more than a million persons have been affected.

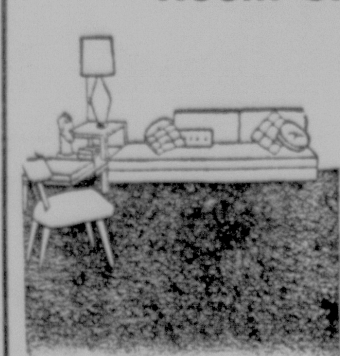

Applications for the position — which pays $3,420 annually during the six-month probationary period — will be received at the Municipal Building until Oct. 24.

Applicants must be U. S. citizens between 25 and 35 years of age with a high school education or its equivalent. They must be not less than five feet eight inches tall; weigh not less than 140 pounds and have a minimum chest expansion of 37½ inches.

Russian Walks 7,000 Miles

MOSCOW (AP)—Alexei Polikarpov, 62, started collecting his pension recently and decided to walk across the Soviet Union. Tass reported he reached Rostov-on-Don yesterday and is feeling fit after logging 7,000 miles through Siberia, the Urals; central Russia, the Baltic coast, White Russia, the Ukraine and the Caucasus. Now he's heading for Soviet central Asia.

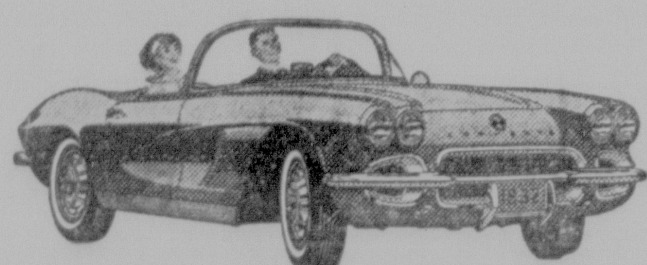

'62 CORVAIR MONZA NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The amazing air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please, in complete control. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

And Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper. Another extra-cost option well worth considering is the heavy-duty front and rear suspension; it turns a Corvair into a real tiger.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

And here's America's only thoroughbred sports car, the '62 CORVETTE. We warn you: If you drive a Corvette after your first sampling of a Corvair, you may well end up a two-car man. And who could blame you?

THUNDERBIRD for 1962 offers a new Landau hardtop (top) in addition to the standard hardtop and convertible models of America's prestige car. The Landau model is a vinyl covered hardtop with a distinctive "S" bar on the rear roof panels. This new Thunderbird's grain material roof is available in black or white colors with any exterior or interior color combinations. The Landau, along with the other 1962 Thunderbird models, retains the car's traditional classic styling and incorporates more than 100 engineering improvements. Like all 1962 Thunderbirds, the standard hardtop model (bottom) features a new, square-block design grille and many exterior and interior styling refinements. All 1962 Thunderbird models, representing the widest selection of Thunderbirds since the car's introduction in 1955, will be displayed in Ford dealer showrooms today.

Area Scout Groups Learn Plans In Organizing Units

REPRESENTATIVES of 20 groups gathered at Camp Weygand last night, learning what is involved in sponsoring and organizing scout units. Approximately 125 persons attended dinner in which details of organizing was explained. Each group decided on how to proceed and set up a schedule.

Nine groups from Monroe County attended including: St. Matthews of East Stroudsburg, Paradise Community Center, Mt. Pocono Rotary, Tobyhanna Signal Depot Officers' Club, Pocono Pines American Legion, Blue Ridge and Cherry Valley Rod and Gun Club, Cherry Valley Methodist Church, Polk Township P.T.A. and the Salvation Army.

From the State belt, representatives in attendance were Belfast United Church of Christ, St. John's U.C.C. of Bangor, Ackermanville E.U.B. Church, Trinity Lutheran Church of Bangor, Our Lady of Good Counsel R.C. church of Bangor.

Eagle Scout Gary Brazina highlighted the program with a talk on "Why Scouting Is Fun." He is son of Dr. and Mrs. Reuben Brazina of Palmer Township. E. Richard Ziegenfuss was in charge of the program.

Bushkill Firemen Hold Meet

THE regular monthly meeting of the Bushkill Volunteer Fire Company was held recently at the firehouse.

Richard DePue presided over the meeting attended by 17 members.

Fire Chief Lawrence Dickson reported no fire calls during the past month. He also reported three men attended the recent Fire School.

The president reported new specifications would be drawn up to readvertise for bids for the radio hook-up system.

E-Burg Demos Meet Tonight

A MEETING of the East Stroudsburg Democratic Club will be held tonight at 8 at the Central Labor Union Social Club.

The program planned is a "candidates' night," to which all who are interested are invited. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Water For The Millions

(Ed. Note: The need for proper control of water and an adequate water supply in northeastern United States is a far-reaching subject. Residents of the Delaware Valley are prone to think that this area is the only one affected, but various agencies and surveys indicate that it is just part of a huge project in our nation. The following report from GeoSurveys, Washington, D. C., concerning the situation and its ideas on the Delaware River is quite interesting locally.)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"It took 20 gallons of water to produce the paper in a single copy of this Sunday's newspaper," states GeoSurveys in a commentary on the 87th Congress's major water bill. "Water supply has not only a multiplicity of uses but also a variety of meanings in the several parts of the country, from power in the Northwest and crops on the irrigated lands of the Mountain and Plains states, to life itself in the arid Southwest."

The Thirsty Northeast — "Until recent years the only serious concern about water in New England and in the North Atlantic states was control of the unpredictable floods. New York City with its growing population and industry was the first to face the need for more water. When the Croton River watershed became inadequate, City engineers crossed the Hudson and tapped the more copious drainage of the Catskill Mountains. For the expanding Metropolitan area, it has since become imperative to tap more and more of the regional drainage flowing into the Atlantic."

"Now the Delaware River's number is up. After four years of discussion and negotiation, the Governors of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware, the Mayors of New York and Philadelphia, and the Federal Government formally approved an interstate-federal contract for the control and development of the Delaware River. State legislators have since endorsed it, and on September 16 the House of Representatives gave its final approval to the bill as amended by the Senate and sent it on to the President for his signature. Even before the Presidential ink was dry, the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin (INCO-DEL) was urging an immediate start on the $591 million project."

Crossing the Delaware — "George Washington first called attention to the Delaware in a crossing that has been publicized more since the event than at the time. It is one of the scenic river systems on the Atlantic slope, and from its headwaters in southern New York's Allegheny Plateau to a point just below Trenton, New Jersey, it flows through rugged country.

"Geologically the Delaware is an ancient river that was born with the Appalachian Mountains. Its utter disregard of the resistant ridges of this old mountain system has given rise to spirited disputes on its origin and history among physiographers. But the same phenomenon has delighted the Eastern vacationer, to whom the Delaware Water Gap has long served as a satisfying substitute for the Columbia River gorge or the Grand Canyon."

"Harnessing the river is not a new idea. Its tributaries turned millwheels in colonial days. One of the first major calls upon the system came from Metropolitan New York, which recognized the need to move beyond the Croton and Catskill watersheds for its municipal supply prior to World War II. The war preceded action, and it was not until the early Fifties that the City started to draw 500 million gallons of its daily water supply from the Delaware's headwaters within the state. Since 1954, by Supreme Court decree, the waters have been regulated for the mutual benefit of the four states within the drainage system."

"With the law that has just been passed, regulation will be superseded by development. The compact calls for multi-purpose projects that will include flood control; water quality improvement; municipal, industrial, and agricultural water supply; recreation, fish, and wildlife improvement; hydroelectric power generation; watershed management and conservation."

"Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall made a last ditch attempt to forestall action on the bill by dragging in a public power issue. He insisted that public agencies be granted first choice on the power generated by government-owned dams within the system. But the Congress was adamant in its conviction that INCODEL should have complete discretion in the allocation of power, which is a minor aspect of the project. Secretary Udall has not endeared himself to the 20 million people who will benefit from the project by his obstructionist tactics."

Pocono Pines Airman In New Zealand

M-SGT. John L. Dyson, Flight Chief, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Dyson Sr., Pocono Pines, has arrived in Christchurch, New Zealand to participate in Operation Deep Freeze 62.

He is a member of the 9th Troop Carrier Squadron commanded by Lt. Col. Foy B. Frost.

Flying 9 C-124 Globemasters they will airlift about 700 tons of supplies and equipment from Christchurch to the Naval Air Facility at McMurdo Sound, Antarctica where they will operate from an airstrip carved out of the ice. They will airdrop an additional 1,500 tons of vital supplies to inland stations at the South Pole and Marie Byrd Land.

Most of the Air Force men on Deep Freeze are from the 63rd Troop Carrier Wing, Heavy of the Military Air Transport Service from Donaldson Air Force Base, S. C.

SGT. DONALD K. Smith, local Army recruiter, has announced that Miss Sylvia Ann Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Smith of 105 Linden St., Stroudsburg, has enlisted in the Women's Army Corps.

Sylvia is a graduate of the Stroud Union High School and attended East Stroudsburg State College for a year prior to enlisting.

She enlisted under the Army's Guaranteed Schooling Program and upon completion of basic training will attend the Dental Assistant School at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

At present she is at Fort McClellan, Alabama, the basic training center for the Women's Army Corps.

Sgt. Smith said that his new school list has many schools available for women. Anyone interested is urged to visit the Stroudsburg Postoffice or phone HA 1-4911.

Caprioli Training At Great Lakes

UNDERGOING recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., is Michael E. Caprioli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Caprioli of Lake Road, Canadensis.

The nine-week training program is designed to provide a smooth transition from civilian to experienced bluejacket ready for duty with one of the fleets guarding our nation.

Instruction ranges over topics from cold weather training to naval history, and includes military drill, physical fitness and swimming.

Career counseling will go on throughout training to help determine each man's naval job specialty from among the 67 choices available.

Belvidere Sailor On USS Proteus

JOHN W. Austin, Engineman third class, U.S. Navy, has been assigned to duty aboard the USS Proteus.

Austin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Breen of 1 Walter St., Belvidere, N.J.

He was processed through the U.S. Naval Receiving Station at Norfolk, Va. The station is an intermediate Navy Activity which temporarily receives, shelters and provides for personnel reporting in for transfer to ships or shore stations in all parts of the world.

In the group were Pvt. Richard S. Meitzler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Meitzler of Kunkletown, RD1; Pvt. Tommy L. Ritter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Ritter of Kunkletown RD2; Pvt. Delbert A. Haydt, son of Mrs. Marion L. Haydt of Kunkletown and Pvt. Larry D. Kleppinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kleppinger of Kunkletown RD2.

The 12-week training course included drill, bayonet training, physical conditioning and other military subjects.

The Marines, after three weeks on the rifle range firing the M-1 rifle and other basic weapons, report to Camp Lejeune, N. C., for combat infantry training.

Thomas E. Larkin

Buck Hill Man Officer In Army

THOMAS E. Larkin, Jr. Buck Hill Falls, entered the U. S. Army as a second lieutenant, R. O. T. C., at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Ind., on Oct. 7. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Larkin.

Lt. Larkin attended the Barre Township School and the Scranton Preparatory School. He later went to the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind. While there, he also enrolled in the R. O. T. C. of the U. S. Army for four years, and was awarded a second lieutenant's commission upon his graduation.

Prior to entering the Army, Lt. Larkin was employed with the U. S. Geological Survey, Albany, N. Y.

After completing his basic training at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Lt. Larkin will be assigned to Ft. Hamilton, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Sabatine Drills At San Diego

JOHN Anthony Sabatine, III, son of Mr. John A. Sabatine, Jr. of RD4, Stroudsburg, enlisted in the U. S. Navy for a period of four years.

Sabatine selected San Diego, Calif., as the place to receive his recruit training.

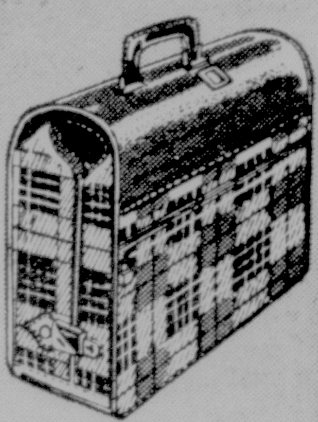

After his training he will be assigned to a service school in the electronics field.

Pianists' Concert Praised

By Carroll A. All

THE two-piano team of Arthur Gold and Robert Fladale made an auspicious beginning for the 1962-63 Community Concert series with their appearance Monday night at the East Stroudsburg State College.

In a program which drew from Bach, Mozart and the moderns, they gave a superb example of team work, musicianship and technique.

Bach's Sicilienne, arranged by Guy Mader, opened the program. A simple number, it was played with great beauty of tone and phrasing, the two pianos engaging in a charming conversational exchange of the melodic figures.

The sonata in D major of Mozart, which concluded the first group, displayed command of the true Mozart style, clean, delicate scales and ornaments, with the themes stated clearly.

Instead of the scheduled Sonata by Poulenc, the Concerto for two pianos by the same composer was their second group. This is a delightful work by a modern living composer, tuneful in spite of its biting, dissonant quality, requiring a style and technique quite different from the classic, traditional piano works. It is the number they will do next week with the Philharmonic under Bernstein.

The third group, unlisted but announced, was a series of short pieces in dance form—a Bolero by Schumann, eight characteristic dances by Stravinsky, and an arrangement by Abram Chasins of the famous Schütz-Evler transcription of The Blue Danube waltz. This undoubtedly was the most "familiar" item of the night. These were all interesting and intriguing, and were beautifully played.

The two-piano composition Scarabouche by another very modern composer, Darius Milhaud, completed the program. Here again the term "modern," plus their unfamiliarity, may have aroused some trepidation as to their reception. However, their performance proved very rewarding, this one especially.

The strange harmonies, abrupt but fascinating modulations, and often impish characterizations almost literally shook us into appreciation. Needless to say, the players offered some magnificent piano playing.

The impression made upon the writer was that we were hearing two artists who are complete masters of their art, and who are dominated by the music rather than driven by a desire to shine before the public.

The demanding program, plus the late hour permitted only two encores, the Hungarian Dance in D minor of Brahms, and a waltz by Poulenc.

Development Aid For Allentown

HARRISBURG — Final payment of $129,849 from State redevelopment funds was approved yesterday by Governor David L. Lawrence for the Redevelopment Authority of the city of Allentown to complete urban renewal work in that Lehigh County community.

The project, known as the Fourth Street Project, when completed, will cost $3,181,106 to be paid out of state, local and federal funds.

The tract being rehabilitated contains an area of 20.2 acres and is located from Fourth Street to Jordan Creek between Linden and Union Street with block extension from 4th to North Penn. It is a worn out residential area crowding on the central business area.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Something old; something new; seemed to be the order of the day yesterday. The "something old" were the Antique Autos whose tour took them right by the office windows in a most distracting parade.

There were some mighty hand-some buggies with their brass all shining and their paint looking mini-new and some interesting costumes on their proud owners. But the nostalgia came, not from the cars or costumes, but from the spirit of the whole thing.

"Blow the horn," shouted the children along the route and the drivers honked, tooted, a-o-o-g-a-d, or whistled according to the make — and they waved at everybody in a display of friendliness harkening back to the days when we all spoke to everybody on Main Street; when engineers in their steam locomotives waved at everybody along the track; when pedestrians stopped to sit on the swing and talk a bit at every front porch.

Streamlining, efficiency and speed seemed their price in the loss of friendliness, leisure, and the time to enjoy the people along the way. Which doesn't mean that I won't be mighty glad to have that Thru-way open. Chasing the Glidden Tour down its forbidden lanes with Mac just gave me a tantalizing taste of how convenient it's going to be to get home on.

Another something new was the new Pocono Medical Building which I toured yesterday. Before Dr. Charlotte Jordan arrived to act as a guide I got lost in its labyrinth "innards," but discovered some fascinating new developments like weighing scales set flush with the floor and special lights to notify you when a room was occupied.

It was sort of comforting to wander into the already occupied offices which, even after such a few days, have acquired a settled look and have even begun to take on something of the personality of their occupants.

And even without the nameplate and minus any furniture except the telephone on the floor I could tell which office was going to be Mary Hunsicker's from the room-length built-in planter filled with stones that looked oriental even without the plants.

It was an interesting day but like, the glutton who suffers because he's too full to eat another bite when a favorite dish is passed, I begrudged the fact that there weren't enough hours in the day to let me join the Progressive Women at their opening meeting last night. I'll bet they had fun.

Honored were Mrs. Ernest Michelfelder, Mrs. Valerie Kresge, Mrs. Arthur Holmes, Mrs. Howard DeNike.

Analomink PTA Organizes For Busy Year

Analomink — Officers were introduced and chairmen named at the opening meeting of the Analomink Parent-Teachers Assn. on Tuesday night. Mrs. Marshall Carlton, president, introduced: Valoria Ace, vice president; Gladys Lang, secretary; Mary Moeller, treasurer.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. Wayne Metzgar, hospitality; Mrs. John Fuhrer, program; Adelaide Nauman, membership; Harry Anton, publicity; Lorraine Oney, PTA magazine.

A rummage sale was planned for Dec. 1 and 2 at Richard's Garage, Main St., Stroudsburg, and the PTA will provide prizes and refreshments for the Halloween party for the pupils.

Student banking has begun.

Harry Anton, principal, introduced the faculty: Mrs. Glays O'Melko, grades 1 and 2; Mrs. Edna Stannard, nurse; Mrs. Robert Clark, music.

Home room mothers' names were Mildred Fish, Shirley Carlton, Marion Pfeiffer, Adelaide Nauman, Mary Moeller, Joe Fuhrer. Summer-improvements were pointed out including the dogwood planted by MORA Club.

Roger Dunning, supervisor of elementary education, spoke on "Forces that Bear on Education." Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wayne Metzgar and Mrs. Dave Beseker. The attendance banner was won by Mr. Anton's room.

The public is invited. The supper will be served from 4 to 8 p.m.

Republican Candidates At Council

Republican candidates for county and borough offices were guests at the meeting of the Monroe County Council of Republican Women yesterday afternoon at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Speaking on their respective offices and their own qualifications for that office were John Nauman, candidate for county treasurer; Dr. Paul Maxwell, candidate for county coroner; Joseph Small, candidate for Mayor in Stroudsburg; Thomas Kistler, candidate for mayor in East Stroudsburg; and the candidates for tax collector: John Kitchen in Stroudsburg and Paul Lloyd in East Stroudsburg.

They were introduced by Parke Unangst, chairman of the Republican County Committee.

Mrs. Carl S. Wagner presided at the well-attended meeting. She announced plans for the 39th annual state convention to be held at the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, Nov. 13 and 14 with Barry Goldwater, Senator from Arizona, as the speaker for the dinner on Nov. 14.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with Fall flowers by Miss Nan Reed, Mrs. H. C. Cryder, Mrs. John Kitchen, Mrs. William Peacock, Mrs. Charles Frank and Mrs. Edgar Powell.

Shari Kellow Married In Nazareth

Miss Shari Deanne Kellow, daughter of Mrs. Clarice Kellow of 412 South Main St., Nazareth and the late Samuel Kellow, was married on Sept. 30 at 7 p.m. in a candlelight ceremony at St. John's Lutheran Church, Nazareth, to Andrew Micio Jr., son of Mrs. Frances Micio of Northampton and the late Andrew Micio Sr.

Rev. Alfred Long performed the ceremony with Mrs. Mary Hand as organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle Philip Kellow of Eighth St., Bangor. She wore a dress of white silk peau de soie applied with re-embroidered Alencon lace. A cabbage rose of peau de soie held her fingertip veil. She carried a white Bible with pink sweetheart roses, bavaria and ivy.

Mrs. William Ambrosino of Northampton was matron of honor. She wore a taffeta gown of romance blue with a royal blue cummerbund and matching Dior veil and face veil. She is a sister of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaids: Miss Georgia Smoynyak, cousin of the bride, of Stroudsburg; Elizabeth Hanley of Abington and Kay Brodt of Bangor, also wore romance blue taffeta gowns with royal blue cummerbunds and matching Dior bows and face veils.

They carried yellow chrysanthemums, and blue grapes.

Andrea Ambrosino of Northampton, niece of the bridegroom, wore a dress of white re-embroidered organza a pompon headpiece and carried a French basket with yellow chrysanthemums and white button pompons.

Scott Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Smith, Nazareth, was ring bearer.

William Ambrosino of Northampton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was his best man. Ushers were Stephen Micio, Donald Micio and David Micio, all of Northampton, brothers of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the Tatamy Fire Co. Hall before the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to the Poconos.

The bride, a graduate of Nazareth Area Sr. High School, attended Abington Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. She is employed at the Northampton County Home.

Her husband attended Northampton High School and Riverside College, Riverside, Cal. He served four years in the Air Force and is now employed at S. J. Gregory's Garage.

The Wyckoff Shopper

The Friendly Store A.B. Wyckoff STROUBSBURG, PA.

Goody for me!—or maybe I should say GOODIES!

When four of the women from the Progressive Women's Club came in this morning (Tuesday) for the fitting of hats for last night's millinery show, I was somewhat surprised to hear that I would be the lone representative of Wyckoff's in attendance. I didn't exactly relish the idea . . . until someone mentioned that I could drive out to Brodheadville with Bill Fisher when he leaves work, and dine with the club at its pot-luck dinner.

THAT put a different light on things. Who, in his right mind, would prefer to go anywhere at eight o'clock, when she might go an hour or so earlier and eat that delicious homemade West End food? Not I. Not if I'd gain ten pounds overnight and be forced to diet for a month.

Models for the show, which will be over by the time you read this, are Grace Singer, Arlene Horne, Mary Jane Arner, and Kathryn Bonser, but we also induced the chairlady, Betty Fisher, to model two things—a dear little evening hat of gunmetal net swirled over a frame of lace and banded narrowly with satin, and a crown of dyed Canadian Red Fox with matching muff, by Gwenn Pennington.

The latter set is just one example of the sumptuous furs that are glorifying Milady this Fall. We have others, of course, including real leopard and mink. The only mink we showed, however, is a make-believe of soft, furry fabric priced at only 5.00. This was worn by Arlene Horne, while Mary Jane Arner modeled mock zebra, at 7.98, and Grace Singer wore a braid-banded bunny beret, spotted in the manner of ocelot, at 10.00.

Our hats, I think, are as pretty as Tiffany's window, with the spectrum including Turquoise . . . Gray . . . Bittersweet . . . Black . . . Gold . . . Magenta . . . Cinnamon and Emerald. All beautiful as the colors on a hill where Jack Frost has been painting the leaves!

Anyone entering this side of our Wyckoff building Tuesday had to see a "Wet Paint" sign in the vestibule where our switchboard is located. Actually, this was not too enlightening. It is true the paint was wet . . . but more accurately the sign might have read "Wet Painting" . . . not dry but Dunn (Dottie Dunn).

The painting in question shows a picture of flowers so rich and full they have as much dimension as the real thing. Dottie delights me by using paint generously, so that it has a delightful texture. As I observed to Dottie Sturdevant, however, a Wet Paint sign can be a dangerous thing. It tempts the imp in one to reach out . . . touch . . . and maybe even "finger paint" an additional design or two.

Mary Kreig and I were among the hundreds of persons who thrilled to the duo-piano music of the celebrated team of Gold and Fisdale this Monday evening when the Community Concert Association opened its season at State College. In the beginning, I mostly enjoyed watching the two young men, playing Mozart and Bach (not exactly my dish) with exquisite suffering upon their faces and an almost ferocious seriousness. I am sure they are as technically perfect as two artists can be . . . but it was not until they thundered into numbers more akin to my temperament that I was honestly carried away by them—and then I was still crying for more when they took their final, gracious but conclusive, bow. Never have I heard such a glorious arrangement of "The Blue Danube" . . . and I loved the little dance numbers from various lands.

Oh, I'm a lowbrow, I suppose, who wants only to be relaxed at a concert and carried away from my private world of typewriters, layout sheets, and—at home—dirty dishes and wrinkled beds. Two pianos, in the hands of such finished musicians as Gold and Fisdale could carry me off anywhere anytime. CARRY me? Yes . . . or SEND me, whichever you prefer.

Medical Aux. Honors State Successor To Mrs. Caulfield

Members of the Women's Aux. of the Monroe County Medical Society joined Carbon County auxiliary members yesterday in a luncheon honoring Mrs. Allison J. Berlin, of Coreopolis, who will be installed as the 37th president of the Women's Aux. to the Pennsylvania Medical Society next week.

Mrs. Walter H. Caulfield, of East Stroudsburg, is the present president of the state organization and was among the local women paying tribute to her successor.

The luncheon was held at the Mahoning Valley Country Club. Mrs. E. O. Headrick and Mrs. James C. Fahl represented the Monroe County auxiliary in planning the luncheon. Mrs. Dennis Bonner was Carbon County chairman.

In addition to Mrs. Berlin and Mrs. Caulfield, dignitaries present included Mrs. Ralph K. Shields, district councilor; Mrs. Joseph Dougherty, president of the Carbon Co. Aux.; Mrs. Evan C. Reese, president of the Monroe County Aux.

Other local women attending the luncheon were Mrs. John Martucci, Mrs. Robert Arner, Mrs. David Kohn and Mrs. Carl B. Rosenkrans.

The luncheon was one of the final official acts of Mrs. Caulfield's administration before the convention which will be held Oct. 15-20 in Pittsburgh in conjunction with the meeting of the Pennsylvania Medical Society.

A luncheon honoring Mrs. Caulfield will be held at noon on Monday. She will also become a member of the Gavel Club comprised of former presidents, and at a luncheon in honor of all former state presidents at noon on Tuesday.

Dear Abby

Wake Up, Mom!

Dear Abby: When the newspaper comes, my mother gets it first and cuts out all the pictures she thinks my 14-year-old brother shouldn't see. This includes pictures of girls in bathing suits, and low necklines and so forth. When my father sees the paper all cut up he blows his stack.

I am a girl, 16, and have tried my best to explain to my mother that she is making a big mistake trying to hide these things from my brother. He knows more than I do, and I don't think I'm stupid. Will you please put something in your column to convince my mother that she should leave the newspaper alone?

SIS

Dear Sis: If your father "blows his stack," and you have tried to appeal to your mother's reason, and she still "censors" the newspaper hoping to keep your 14-year-old brother wide-eyed and innocent, I fear my efforts will be futile. But I'll try: Dear

Mom: A 14-year-old boy today is sharper than your scissors.

Dear Abby: My father and I were having an argument, and I thought you might be able to solve our problem. If teen-age children drive the family car, does the insurance go up?

TEEN-AGE GIRL

Dear Girl: And how!

Dear Abby: I am 19 and he is 25 and I am very much in love with him. We went together almost a whole year, and we spoke of being married in two or three years. It has been a month since I last heard from him, and he lives right in this town.

A mutual friend told me he went back to his old girl friend. I can't understand it. We didn't have a fight or anything. He just said goodnight after a date and I never heard from him again. I hate to crawl to him, but I know if I saw him again we could straighten everything out.

My friends say to forget him, but it's not that easy. I love him. Please tell me if I should call him up. I can't eat or sleep.

JILTED

Dear Jilted: Your friends gave you good advice. Take it!

Warriors' Barkman Top State Scorer

SOMETHING TO YELL ABOUT—A young visitor to East Stroudsburg State College football practice had something to cheer about yesterday. The young admirer of halfback Toby Barkman is happy because Barkman is the leading college scorer in Pennsylvania.

Cavaliers To Face Trojans Without Co-Capt. Metzgar

EAST Stroudsburg High School will be without its co-captain and fastest interior lineman, Earl Metzgar Saturday, when the Cavaliers travel to Parkland.

Metzgar, a guard, was bumped on the head against Leighton Friday and has been advised to pass up this week's game.

Metzgar is the only Cavalier on the "won't play list," although tackle Bud Stann is still recovering from a pulled back muscle.

TOBY BARKMAN, East Stroudsburg State College halfback, who carries a six-inch steel plate in his right leg as a result of an automobile accident, is the leading scorer in Pennsylvania football.

The Associated Press weekly survey of the state's scoring, lists the Chester, N. J., sophomore on top with 42 points. Barkman's points were scored on seven touchdowns.

He leads the Pennsylvania State College Conference in scoring and is fourth in the nation among small college point makers.

Another East Stroudsburg player, quarterback Bill Lewis is tied for sixth place in state scoring with 24 points.

Scoring String

Barkman, who spent 11 months on crutches two years ago after being struck by an automobile while crossing a street, has scored two touchdowns in every game this year except West Chester. His 57-yard TD run against West Chester was the lone six-pointer East Stroudsburg managed Barkman gained 130 yards in 13 carries in the game.

When East Stroudsburg meets Mansfield at Normal Hill Saturday in the Warriors' homecoming game, Barkman will be on a five-game scoring streak. He started the string with a touchdown against Indiana in the last game of the 1960 season.

In his junior year of high school, Barkman put together a 13-game scoring streak. It was snapped by Morris Hills High School, N. J., a team that Joe

ESSC Scores 4th Straight Soccer Win; Tops F-D 7-0

EAST Stroudsburg State College's unbeaten and unscored upon soccer team made it four in a row Wednesday, thrashing Farleigh-Dickinson 7-0 at Normal Hill.

The New Jersey team was unbeaten going into the game and fielded a line-up of mostly foreign born players.

But the Warriors needed only 2:42 to score their first goal and at halftime it was 2-0. Two goals in the third period and three more in the fourth quarter, completed the East Stroudsburg scoring.

Double Scorers

Ken Kutler, Karl Dickel and John Kane each scored two goals for East Stroudsburg. Dickel had goals in the first and third periods, while Kutler connected in the same frames. Kane's scores were less than a minute apart in the fourth period. Gene Collins scored the final goal, banging in a high shot with 14:14 gone in last period.

Warrior coach John Eller used 24 players in the romp and three of the goals were scored by reserves.

Farleigh-Dickinson managed only 10 shots and did not have a scoring opportunity in the last period. East Stroudsburg tried 42 shots and connected on three of its last four attempts.

John Hamilton, who has been in the East Stroudsburg goal in the four blankings, was not required to make a save in the last period.

Davis Draws Help Yanks Says Coach

ROME (AP) — The United States pinned its Davis Cup singles hopes on Jon Douglas and Whitney Reed as drawings were made Wednesday for the inter-zone final against favored Italy.

Douglas, of Santa Monica, Calif., drew Italian tennis champion Fausto Gardini as his opponent in the opening singles match Friday.

Reed of Alameda, Calif., was paired against Nicola Pietrangeli, one of Europe's outstanding players, in the second singles.

David Freed of Salt Lake City, Utah, non-playing coach of the U.S. team, felt the draw had given his team its best possible chance to get off to a 1-0 lead. His reasoning: Douglas, No. 6 U.S. amateur is the highest ranked member of the U.S. team. Gardini, although Italian champion, is not considered as dangerous an opponent as Pietrangeli.

Houk, Rigney Trail Tigers' Scheffing Voted American's Best Manager

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Scheffing, who led the Detroit Tigers to a surprising second-place finish in his first season in the American League, was named the circuit's Manager-of-the-Year for 1961 Wednesday in the annual Associated Press poll.

Scheffing received 105 votes in the balloting by 174 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. Ralph Houk of the pennant-winning New York Yankees was next with 62 votes followed by Bill Rigney of the Los Angeles Angels 6 and Jimmy Dykes of Cleveland 1. The balloting was based on regular season performances.

Tigers Fold

Scheffing, 46, had his Tigers win 11 1/2 games of the heavily favored Yankees on Sept. 1. Then New York swept a three-game series from Detroit and pulled away steadily to finish eight games in front. The Tigers, selected to finish no higher than fifth in most pre-season estimates, wound up six games ahead of the third place Baltimore Orioles with 101 victories and 61 defeats.

A National League catcher for eight seasons with Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis, Scheffing also managed the Cubs from 1957 through 1959. He was appointed the Detroit pilot after the Tigers had finished sixth with a 71-83 record under Dykes and Joe Gordin in 1960. Scheffing was given a new two-year contract 10 days before the close of the past season.

Discards Platoon

Houk, a rookie skipper, discarded the two-platoon pitcher system used by his predecessor, Casey Stengel. Houk also cut down the number of days between starts for Whitey Ford, his southpaw ace. Pitching virtually every fourth day, Ford emerged the majors' top winner with 25 victories.

Rigney, former San Francisco Giants' pilot, guided the Angels to eighth place—a good showing considering the team started the season with many veterans and untested youngsters obtained in the Loeb's expansion draft. The Angels won 70 games, about 20 more than expected.

Dykes was discharged on the final day of the season. The Indians wound up with a 78-83 record.

Colorado Quarterback Gets AP Back-Of-Week Selection

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Gale Weidner, senior quarterback of the Colorado football team that clashes with Miami in the Orange Bowl Friday night, was named The Associated Press Back of the Week Wednesday.

Last Saturday Colorado seemed thoroughly beaten by Kansas 19-0 with 13 minutes left. Then Weidner began whipping passes.

Three of them were good for touchdown plays of 57, 47 and 16 yards, and the Buffaloes won 20-19.

Colorado Coach Sonny Grande called Weidner's work "the finest one-game performance I've ever seen by a quarterback."

"It's not only a great honor for me to be selected, but also for the entire team," said Weidner, who hails from Troy, Mont. "My receivers did an excellent job in getting wide open and I had perfect protection from the line."

The 21-year-old quarterback is the best passer in Colorado's history. His 12 completions against Kansas gave him a career total of 161, one more than the school record set by Zack Jordan in 1952.

Weidner, 6 feet 1 inch and weighing 184 pounds, is also a good basebal outfielder. But he admits to a weakness—he can't throw very well.

Four other backs were recommended strongly for the Back of the Week — Pete Ohler of Washington, playing in his first varsity game; Willie Ross of Nebraska; Pat Trammell of Alabama and Bobby Dodd Jr. of Florida. He is the son of the Georgia Tech coach.

Extra Bleachers Installed For Mansfield Game

EAST Stroudsburg State College will sell advance tickets for its homecoming football game with Mansfield Saturday, today from 9 to 11 a.m. and Friday from 1 to 2:15 p.m. The tickets are on sale in the athletic office in the gymnasium.

The school has obtained several hundred additional bleacher seats for the game.

Extra Bleachers Installed For Mansfield Game

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears placed Pete Manning, who has a knee injury, on the reserve list Wednesday and called up Bobby Jackson as a substitute defense back.

Jackson, 6 feet 1 and 190 pounds, was obtained on waivers from the Philadelphia Eagles. He played in every game for the Eagles during their 1960 championship season.

Bangor Favored By Board

THE first big wave of upsets hit last week but every member of the Guess-Perts was able to pick at least one of the turn around games.

Sports Editor Curt Prins, who leads the four-man board of guessers, had Maryland over Syracuse, second place Tony Cesare picked Washington over Pittsburgh, City Editor Bob Clark called Kentucky's win over Auburn and Don Allen had Navy over Miami.

The Consensus which correctly picked all the local games last week, has East Stroudsburg State over Mansfield, Bangor over Stroud Union, Pen Argyl over Jim Thorpe, East Stroudsburg over Parkland and Belvidere over Plus X this week.

In other games of local interest, Syracuse is a 4-0 choice over West Virginia and Richmond, for the first time this season, is picked to lose by the board. Allen is the only selector backing Richmond.

TV Highlights

BOB KEESHAN, as "Captain Kangaroo," and his friends will appear as hosts for the third successive year, while viewers are taken through a "magic window" via an 85-minute CBS Special Event presenting pickups from three Thanksgiving Day parades at 10:30 a. m. on Thursday, Nov. 23. . . . Phil Silvers, Nancy Walker and other cast members of "Do Re Mi" will present a half-hour of songs and comedy from the Broadway musical on "The Ed Sullivan Show" Sunday, Oct. 22.

Donald O'Connor reminisces about his childhood in vaudeville when Jack Linkletter visits with him on "Here's Hollywood" at 4:30 this afternoon on Chs. 3 and 4. . . . David Nelson's new bride, actress June Blair, plays herself in "The Newlyweds Get Settled," when Harriet decides to fix up their apartment while the newlyweds are on their honeymoon on "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet" at 7:30 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7.

On "The Donna Reed Show" at 8 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7, Donna and her children are alarmed when a wild animal is reported loose in the neighborhood, but when the creature turns up at the Stone house, it turns out to be an oversized poodle. . . . Suzanne Pleshette and Edward Andrews guest with star Richard Chamberlain, who, as "Dr. Kildaire," faces the grim task of telling a young woman that she will die in two weeks from an incurable disease on the series at 8:30 p. m. on Chs. 3 and 4, co-starring Raymond Massey.

Lee Marvin guests with stars James Franciscus and James Hinkle on "The Untouchables" at 9 p. m. on Chs. 3 and 4, co-starring Steve Banks, become suspicious when a woman member of a religious foundation dies unexpectedly, leaving her money to a tabernacle, on the "Investigators" at 9 p. m. on Chs. 2 and 10. . . . HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day it is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right, then down. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—Roger D. Rowland, 28, was in critical condition yesterday with injuries he suffered when his single-engine plane crashed on a doctor's estate two miles northwest of here Saturday.

Rowland, of New Orleans, La., is a student at George Washington University. He was enroute alone from Washington to West Chester when the craft ran out of fuel and nosed into a pasture on the estate of Dr. John H. Gibson Jr., a surgeon.

He was admitted to Tri-County Hospital in nearby Springfield with deep head cuts and a leg injury.

The Daily Investor

SEC Approval

By William A. Doyle

Q. I have just received a prospectus from a mutual fund in which I am making monthly investments. I was startled to find the following statement on the first page of the pamphlet: "These securities have not been approved or disapproved by the Securities & Exchange Commission nor has the commission passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this prospectus. Any representation to the contrary is a criminal offense."

Does this mean that I am investing in a questionable outfit?

A. No, indeed. That statement is on page one of every prospectus printed. It is required by law.

A prospectus is a boiled-down version of a "registration statement." When a mutual fund or any other outfit plans an offering of a substantial amount of securities to the investing public, it must file a registration statement with the SEC.

A registration statement is a big document. It contains all pertinent facts and figures about the company offering the securities.

The SEC goes over each registration statement and its condensation (the prospectus) with care, to see that all facts are presented honestly.

My mail shows that many people get shook up over the statement about which you are worried. But it simply means that the SEC does not pass judgment on the quality of the securities being offered to the public. However, if the commission suspected any fraud, you can be sure that the prospectus never would have been printed and that the management of the mutual fund would be up on the carpet.

You mention that you are making monthly investments in shares of a mutual fund. Because you are investing through an "accumulation plan," you must receive a new prospectus every time the mutual fund revises that document.

Also, you should have received a prospectus before you made your first investment. The law states that any sales effort for a mutual fund must be "accompanied or preceded" by the presentation of an effective prospectus.

Q. I own 1,000 shares of a certain stock, which has been quoted between $8 and $9 a share ever since I bought it five years ago. It pays a dividend of 10 cents per share per year. Would I be wise to sell it and reinvest in something that is "moving?"

A. That depends on your investment aims.

If you want steady income, this stock seems almost made to order. Its constant dividends result in a good yield on your investment and on its current market price.

And its relatively small up or down movement in market price certainly puts it in the not-very-risky category.

However, if you are looking for "growth" (and most people are these days) this doesn't seem to be your cup of tea. In that case, you might consider switching into something that, hopefully, might increase in market value (and dividends) in the future.

Just remember that, when you look for growth, you normally have to give up some present dividend income and take on more risk.
